1. Headquarters is of the opinion that the Chief of Station might already have the authority requested in paragraph 3 of reference. Paragraph 4 a, [REDACTED] authorizes the Chiefs of Stations to make alterations to KUBARK real property, within specified limitations, without obtaining headquarters approval. From cost estimates available here, it appears that the making of subject alterations is well within the Chief of Station's authority.

2. Of course, if the cost of previous alterations, etc., to the [REDACTED] properties plus the cost of the current alterations total to an amount more than that permitted by paragraph 4 a, [REDACTED] headquarters retroactive approval will be required. In such case, the station should inform headquarters of the cost of the alterations (if accurate figures are not available, the station's estimates of cost will be sufficient).
